The ICME Committee is seeking papers on the topic of
*ICME – 10 Years Later: Success and Challenges

In 2008, the National Academy of Engineering issued a report entitled “Integrated Computational Materials Engineering: A Transformational Discipline for Improved Competitiveness and National Security.” 2018 is the 10 year anniversary of this major milestone in the discipline of ICME. Papers will examine how ICME has affected the way that materials science and engineering is taught, the product development life cycle and the design of new materials. Papers are also invited that deal with the major challenges that remain from the vision set out by the 2008 ICME report.

Typical paper length is 5,000 to 6,500 words for review papers, and 2,400 to 4,000 words for original papers.
